Wanda Stewart

Wanda Stewart, affectionately known as Mama Wanda, is a community organizer and activist who founded Common Vision, a non-profit organization that focuses on environmental justice and sustainable food systems.

Mama Wanda was born and raised in a low-income, African American community and saw first-hand the negative effects of environmental pollution and lack of access to healthy food. She became an advocate for her community, working to improve living conditions and create a more just and equitable society. Mama Wanda's work with Common Vision includes organizing community gardens, educating youth on sustainable agriculture, and fighting against toxic waste disposal in neighborhoods. She is a powerful and inspiring leader who works tirelessly to create a better future for her community and future generations. Check out her series of videos on YouTube called MamaWanda's Garden School. And look for her around our school helping us plant trees!

Radical Ideas... in action

For a seed to achieve its greatest expression, it must come completely undone. The shell cracks, its insides come out and everything changes. To someone who doesn't understand growth, it would look like complete destruction.
